

Soul Demise, Cancer

What would it be like
If circulation was damaged
Immunity replaced by weakness
The gates of impenetrability opened
Willing to eat through the wall's armour
Being built under constant control
Killed by old age
Like a cut down tree
First it infiltrates and then it spreads
Victory's shout guaranteed
If it just would be the sign of the Zodiac
Legitimate fear would be
Far away
The triumphant march
Could not be stopped
Grown by experience
Every single warrior improved
And don't mind where they tread
To believe to be the best
Unique, perfectly constructed
Controls the course of this creed
Remember forget me not
The flower Forget me not
Oh please forget me not
Stronger ones still will exist
Preferred by us to be unknown
But so life on this earth
A coincidence of higher spheres
Legitimate fear would be