

Soulrelic, Dying Angels

I wish I could just surrender to the wind
Drift away to better world
It's like I could hear echoes from the world beyond us
Fighting against time alone
Broken heart in a freezing breeze
I can't feel your touch anymore
Time crawls on, killing the beat inside
All that is left to me is a smile of dying angels
I let go and there's no turning back
All that is left to me is a smile of dying angels
When I met you, it felt like 2 stars melting as one
Now that it's over, I realize we were always universe away from each other
So many things unsaid
Don't you know that frozen heart breaks into million pieces?
Time crawls on, killing the beat inside
All that is left to me is a smile of dying angels
I let go and there's no turning back
All that is left to me is a smile of dying angels
If I had just one day, I'd hold you close so I could feel you again
I can't hear your gentle voice anymore, I'm all alone
Time crawls on, killing the beat inside
All that is left to me is a smile of dying angels
I let go and there's no turning back
All that is left to me is a smile of dying angels