Spain, I Love You

If I could I'd put away my sorrow I wouldn't wait until tomorrow To let you know how I feel

If I could
I'd look you in the eyes
And it wouldn't be a surprise
I would know what to say

But I'm afraid Of what's at stake Of what a love like This could do

Oh it's my fate To hesitate From saying I love you

But I would if You said you'd never leave This little promise always to keep This broken heart that wants you

If I could Every time you held me close Remembering when love at most Burned in flames Died away

If I could I'd take you by the hand And I'm sure you'd understand Why it is I want you so

But I'm afraid Of what's at stake Of what a love like This could do

Oh it's my fate To hesitate From saying I love you

But I would if You said you'd never leave This little promise always to keep This broken heart that wants you
