Sparta, Erase It Again

You put your fist in the ground You went from quiet to loud You found you're broken in half, today You set a fire to forget To burn up all you regret But really nothing has changed, today You can't go on this way You can't move on

Erase it start it again Accidents happen But these cuts don't scar Erase and start it again Mistakes dig in And you've gone too far

You find you're living in fear You've been dying for years You hit the end of the road, today Condemned but couldn't understand You tried but pride held you back Your eyes are open again, today You can't go on this way You can't move on