

Spin Doctors, Rosetta Stone

Take the lowest common denominator,
The tiniest grain of sand.
Like the first digit of our fingers
Points back to the whole hand.
Follow the spear flight
Hurlled with any lateral
Throw it on the cliff top
Weaves over the battle
Pill of wax descending the candle
Late at night,
You'd feel a rise at this mantle
The catalyst or the detonator
The place where it all again
The bottom floor of the elevator,
The grandfather of the middleman.
Follow the spear flight
Hurlled with any lateral
Throw it on the cliff top
Weaves over the battle
Pill of wax descending the candle
Late at night,
You'd feel a rise at this mantle
Waxing givers
Slip between the sheets of minds.
Rosetta stone
Like the skeleton
Reassembled bone by bone by bone by bone
Follow the spear flight
Hurlled with any lateral
Throw it on the cliff top
Weaves over the battle
Pill of wax descending the candle
Late at night,
You'd feel a rise at this mantle