

Spin Twice, What's Wrong With Me?

I wander like I'm nobody, hiding what is best in me
I just wanna get off this way which's slowly driving me to the shame

This is how I don't wanna feel, when my heart is breaking out
All those crazy things last nights. What's wrong with me?
My soul's lighter than the air but never sure to come back
I can pretend that I'm fine but I know you can see

That there's no home where I don't feel lost
It's better to be alone when you're just a ghost
There's no hope if we don't trust in love
Though it is really love that we need the most

I wander like I'm nobody
Hiding what is best in me
I just wanna get off this way
which's slowly driving me to the shame
I still feel so bad when everything's alright
What's wrong with me?
You're a blessing and I'm standing in the dark
What is wrong with me?

You said "we will go under the sun", you wanna hear the sea's soft voices With you everything see
Good friends, good family : that save appearances
But pain is swallowing the light and spreading in my veins

What is, what is wrong with me?

I'm buried alive
And I still survive
But I can't breathe outside your arms
