SpiRitual, You Believe

You try and fail, slip and fall

No breath, no move, no vision clear Stay strong and true, your day will come

No need to hide, be all that you can be For the morning is yours

Find and break the surface Cause you believe Banish what you fear Fly, your heart is burning Cause you believe

You hunt the silence, corrupt the dark Refuse another cold night

Devil's in your words You still hold your past inside You are so forlorn Escape the plague, reawake

Smile and live your wonders wild and free Remove this pain that stings like a knife Endure the storms with faith and trust Throw your arms open and fall