

Spitalfield, The Yearbook Song should i sign your yearbook now bringing closure to this all from this pen shakes my hand and i read what you said as it spins around my head and i hope you understand

went until my head spins off again
wish i was seven years again
went until my head spins off again

the time is right upon us now until next time is not this fall and i hope things dont change

wish i was seven years again
went until my head spins off again

i cant stand this half-baked ending i know that you're undertaken my heart breaks while your hearts' mending went until my head spins

wish that i was seven years again went until my heads spin off again
wish i was seven years again went until my head spins (5x)
