

Spitalfield, Yearbook Song should I sign your yearbook now bringing closure to this all from this pen shakes my hand and I read what you said as it spins around my head and I hope you understand

went until my head spins off again wish I was seven years again
went until my head spins off again

the time is right upon us now until next time is not this fall and I hope things don't change
and I read what you said

went until my head spins off again

I can't stand this half-baked ending I know that you're undertaken my heart breaks while your hearts' mending went until my head spins

wish that I was seven years again went until my heads spin off again
wish I was seven years again

went until my head spins (5x)
went until my head spins off again
