Spitfire, Whatever Happenned To The Indie Quee

get out of this rut that you hate but you have it to have it just because they told you that you must do as they do you're afraid of loneliness where did you hide your respect inside of who you think you are? you have cut off all respect cut it off i want to spit but i just cry inside i want to spit as i watch you cry this heart mourns you used to be my inspiration you're not dead yet it's your life leaning on a friend leaning on a friend