Split Enz, Time For A Change

(P Judd) - Mental Notes/Second Thoughts

You act as though
You were a blind man who's crying
Crying `bout, all the virgins that are dying
In your habitual dreams
You know, seems you need more sleep
But like a parrot in a flaming tree
I know, it's pretty hard to see
And I'm beginning to wonder if it's time for a change

But still you try like a fat boy Dancing Gershwin's blues But you'd rather sit at home and watch the news And I'm beginning to wonder if it's time for a change I'm beginning to wonder if it's time for a change