

Split Shift, Beautiful

Your silhouettes all I taste
From afar it seems out of place
I can see the movement of your skin
And all I want to say to you is

You're so beautiful
So far from real it's my own
I feel so overthrown
And at nights we are alone

Weeks go by I plainly see
That attention is how you breathe
I see the movement of your skin
Deep inside you know I can't win
So I force myself to speak
As you turn it seems out of reach
Half-hearted cold smile to me
And all I want to say to you is

We are alone
And at night we are alone
