

Spock's Beard, Follow Me To Sleep

A lost man draws his final card
Then leaves the Land of None
The sun's last light dies in the west
His journey's just begun
To where the faithful form a line
To join the dream parade
A slow dance with the sandman
Where promises are made
I'll melt into you he says
If you fade into me and

Follow me to sleep
Close your eyes
I'll lead the way
The fall will not be steep
Forever we will stay
Where twilight meets tomorrow
The wonders we will see
Forget your fears
Forget your sorrows and
Follow me to sleep

The rain man writes a symphony
For an orchestra of clouds
The first drop falls as thunder rolls
A hush sweeps through the crowd
The watchman in a coat of dust
Then suddenly appears
And with a jeweler's steady hand
Unwinds the clock of years
I'll melt into you he says
If you fade into me and

Chorus

As his words ring true
You're hesitating
Thinking that he might be crazy
Still they're haunting you
And you're facing
All the time that you've been wasting...

The world where you belonged
You realize it's gone

Time for dreaming
Time for leaving now...

I'll melt into you he says
If you fade into me and

Chorus