

Spoon, Everything Hits At Once

Dont say a word the last ones still stinging back a my mind i feel that phone ringing and there is no way back from this everything hits at once what we needs is just what we wants i go to sleep but think that youre next to me i go to sleep and think youre next to me dont make a move when i walk out dont follow me out in the car can feel it calling me and ooh youre so far away but i can still change my mind tonight i gotta change my mind somehow i go to sleep alone but think that youre next to me everything hits at once tonight outside is all lit up with ad lights in traffic we become on the way back home part of something bigger than just on our own i gotta change my mind tonight i can still change my mind tonight merging in traffic cross the lanes and then we become something bigger than just any one oh and everything hits at once

what we needs is just what we wants
i go to sleep and think that youre next to me i go to sleep and think that youre next to me