

Spoon, Take The Fifth

Wendys walking out alone and its saturday night all the boys act tough but theyve gotta bite when they do theyll get more than a slap on the wrist and its clear whos promoting her own myth so ill take the fifth take the fifth oh

everybody talks it up all of saturday night and all the kids want to brag in fact that they got a right but it aint gonna be just a slap on the wrist and its clear whos gonna go and promote her own myth gonna talk the fifth

take the fifth oh
but ill take the fifth ill take the fifth oh

in back of the room when she walk on through find 'em stacked against the wall on the tip of their tongue is the word that all along could turn around the way itd fall the thinking about what shes got shes about got me backed against the wall on the tip of my tongue cause i knew it all along id be back there if i wouldnt fall if i wouldnt fall

wendys out on her own its a saturday night and ive been hanging around as if to save my life all the girls stand around with their hands on their hips cause all the boys have already fallen prey to her myth but im gonna take the fifth

and ill take the fifth
ill take the fifth
