

Spoons, Symmetry

For every time you fall
There will be a rebound you
For everything thats false
There'll be something true

For every heartfelt word
There will be a thought returned
From everything you teach
There'll be something learned
There'll be something learned

See the pattern
To your world
A right on a left one
Everything you say is balanced out
By symmetry, symmetry
Everything you do is echoed out
A question an answer

For every time you fall
There will be a rebound you
For every time you fake
You will be true

For every heart you break
Your heart will be broken too
In every partnership
There will be you
There will be you

See the pattern
To your world
I see it, I see it
Everything you say is balanced out
By symmetry, symmetry
Everything you do is echoed out, far out
A question an answer
Everything you say is balanced out
By symmetry, symmetry
Everything you do is echoed out, far out
A right on a left one
Everything you say is balanced out
By symmetry, symmetry
Everything you do is echoed out, far out
A question an answer