

Spring Heeled Jack USA, Freedom

Until Yesterday when the lights went out
You'll find some one to take your anger out
The life you lead is so blue
Cause all you dream about, all you think about is you
Traveling by on your own mistakes
Living on you, your own self-conscious fate.
Leaving you to be you
Getting by on being alone
Freedom can't buy freindship
No time to tell if your life' gonna work out
Be the one, the freind that helps
Cause in the end, you might need it, you might need it yourself
Now that you are the liberated one
Can you find the time to think of anyone
And get on with your so called fun
Leave your color at home
And show us how you spread your freedom
No time to tell if your lifes gonna work out
Be the one, the freind that helps
Cuse in the end, you might need it, you might need it yourself
