

SR-71, Last Excuse

Another brilliant morning sky,
And that's the last excuse I'll use to let the world pass me by.

And I'll step back from the edge, and find a way to find myself
I'll step off of this ledge and see.

Another brilliant morning sky
and that's the last excuse I'll use
to let the world pass me by

And now it seems shallow to think this narrow I'm not gonna live out a lie

I was a fool
And outside they're made to play that game by someone else's rules Am I going crazy? (Am I going crazy?)
Has something changed me? (Has Something changed me?)
I haven't felt like this since Sunday School

Now I'll step back from the edge and find a way to find myself
I'll step off of this ledge and see

Then I can see everything...

And I can step off of ledge and see Now this tunnel seems so bright and the darkness opens doors I can't see in the light

And I step back from the edge
And I've found a way to find myself I'll step back from the edge
And Now I don't need no one else I'll step off of this ledge
And See
And See
Ohh Ohh Ohh

Another brilliant morning sky
And that's last excuse I'll use
to let the world pass me by