

SR-71, (My Country) Tears Of Thee

This Is a song from when SR-71 was Known as "Honor Among Thieves" this river flows like blood in all it's veins a bullet falls in the white rain a picture in the blinding morning light sacred colors framed in white all this anger has kissed you and waits to touch my lips on the run it's what i've been scared of has no reason

angels speak
what could be
only if you would believe
and open up your mind
if only for a brief time
can we forget the past tonight

and open up your mind
if only for a brief time
can we forget the past tonight

faces turn and hearts will beat hollow the wounded walk and we follow nothings true away you flew so what's new here I stand with broken hands, reaching out to you

angels speak
what could be
only if you would believe
and open up your mind
if only for a brief time
can we forget the past tonight

we'll be alright
we're gonna be alright