

Stabilizer, Realize

Falling down, I kiss the glowing ground
Just before the night runs through
Calling out, I miss the only sound
That might help to make it through

Darkness will not help to cover up the hateful damage
Darkness only helps to hide the tears
Of everything, nothing and anything
Witness the motion of the earth
It's turning back the tide of hate
Witness the ending of ourselves
Realize a new beginning here

Staring into the sound, in this
I feel the nothing here
Give in, and throw it away
Watch our faces fade
Watch the weather change, its pieces frame the transformation

Darkness before light
Sorrow before hope, tonight
Pushing forwards we will find our standing