

Stabilizer, So Long

another late night's welcome silent apartment, silent film but through the window across the way the show is only is just beginning i take a seat
i take a seat and watch again colourful flames ignite a spoon full of hatred and disgust so long sleep well ignore this hell

so long to the one right next to me across the hall
but miles away so long to my concience and compassion he really ought to close his window and so night after night i watched him dismantle they finally came to take him away i could have shown him a better way