

Stanfour, Desperate

You're reachin' out
And no one hears
You cry
You're freakin' out again
Cause all your fears
Remind you

Another dream, has come undone
You feel so small and lost
Like you're the only one
You wanna scream
Cause you're desperate

You want somebody just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason
To keep believin'
That someday
You're gonna see the light

It's 3 a.m.
There's no one left
To call
And sleep's your only friend
But even sleep
Can't hide you

From all those tears
And all the pain
And all those years you wasted
Pushing them away
You're goin' down
It's time you face it

You want somebody just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason
To keep believin'
That someday
You're gonna see the light

Cause you're desperate, desperate
You're desperate now

You think that things
Are gonna change
Then you're back to be feelin' strange
What's it take to
Make you feel alive

You want somebody just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason
To keep believin'
That someday
You're gonna see the light
You want somebody just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason
To keep believin'
That someday
You're gonna see the light