

Staple, Hesitate

Pleading with open eyes to see into your world tonight.
Bleeding with open cries, on my face
and hoping that you'll prove my faith tonight.
I'll never forget the times you made me wide awake inside,
filling my empty cracks with less of me.

I want you. I want you to know that I'm ready for you and waiting for you today.
Running on caloused knees, you're my cure for my disease.
Gasping to feel you breath,
I'd suffocate because I know that you're worth the wait.
I find your life to be true when I won't hesitate with mine,
filling your arms tonight with all of me.

Wide awake, won't hesitate when I see you there.
You're what I'm waiting for.
Wide awake, won't hesitate.
You're all, and nothing more.
Wide awake, won't hesitate.
You're all I want.
All the mazes through, lengths that I've went to,
to find what I wanted: it's always been you.
I'll be here waiting on you.