

Star Salzman, Silence

The radio static is buzzing again,
The clouds are silently moving against the wind
I walk along the pathways of my own desire,
Again and again and again

Intangible thoughts and feelings I can't control,
Surface in my mind to protect me from myself
And then I lose control,
I wish I was someone else

I want to silence the madness inside my head,
To shut out this crazy world I'm living in
I walk along the edge of my insanity,
Again and again and again

With you or without you,
I'll climb the slope of every day anew

Time on my shoulders, time on my mind,
Time to live, and time to die