

Staring Back, Distance Between

Memories of pale skin force me to detain the urge that drives me
Because love still blinds me
I can feel you face in the sun-streaked sky
I think Ive found my way out inside you
(Look at me)
Thats all the comfort that I need
(Look at me)
Incessant in the way it feeds
(With your eyes) piercing me, I find out what it means
To be happy and I will not let it leave
Can you feel the winds are changing?
How do you know the sun is shining when youre blind?
Your way out is your reflection smiling back at you
Cannot let it fade so close but so far away
Your heart beats in a dream for me
And I see your words race through my mind
In and out of time
Its all I want, your face engraved in my eyes
Can you feel the world is changing?
How can I let you know just what this means to me?
Fall from grace into my arms
(Look at me)
Thats all the comfort that I need
(Look at me)
Incessant in the way it feeds
(With your eyes) piercing me, I find out what it means
To be happy and I will not let it
Cannot let it fade so close but so far away
Your heart beats in a dream for me
And I see your words give so much more than Im asking for Its so familiar but its nothing that Ive ever felt before
This time I couldnt figure out just what you meant to me
Why I could not make it without you
Now I see theres nothing left for me
Nothing left, everything is for you for you [x10]