

Staring Back, Six Eyes Too Far Away

take me back to this moment i'll try to look away
i could try your form of listening but that wont solve anything now i could scream but you're listening to someone else
(you will hear me say &quot;i can feel it&quot;) sad songs always make the most sense intense, pretense, sensual experience search for the harmony you gave me play it on my own skills see me, open and flowing will you cast a second glance my way?
see me, open and screaming six eyes on you.
you're doing the distance.
will my gaze mark your skin?
or will it sink in?
will I give up faith in the aspect that guides me?
my patience wears thin.
see me, open and flowing
will you cast a second glance my way?
ask myself and i know the big sun's all we have we cant always build from...
i could try your form of listening
but that wont solve anything now
i could scream but you're listening to something else
(you will hear me say &quot;i can feel it&quot;)
eyes on a resolution searching for a solution
it drew my tears
a mixed-up confusion
my eyes are disillusioned somehow i know i have the choice to deal with this somehow i feel alright.