

Starlet, When Sun Falls On My Feet

sometimes the sky looks dirty just before it rains afterwards, the sun falls on my feet

your body
I hardly remember how it feels dunno how we looked before we fell asleep (asleep...)

believe me
I don't want to feel the way I do and I know you need someone, too to feel you
one who'll let his lips just light your eyes someone to make you feel just ilke floating have you ever read "The Servant"?

have you ever sang along to the lines of "Hand In Glove"; as if they were your own?
do you wear the ring i gave you? have you seen the photograph of you and me in paris?

oh, look into my eyes say I did not love you say that I was cruel ask me to believe you claim that I'm a fool sure, I do forgive you but how will I forget...?