

Starmaker, When Your Heart Is Connected

In this world of emotions
Nothing stays the same
In the land of confusions
The heart is not explained
When the dreams turn to sorrow
And the hero walks away

There's a reason why he's leaving
There's a reason why you stay

When your heart is connected
The writings on the wall
You're always protected
And your love will never ever stop
Carnal emotions
You place them in my hand
When your heart is connected
Love will stay the same

When you're wanting solutions
Down the highway of hope
Blinded by the shadows running out of rope
So you can't make decisions you let them slip away

There's a reason why he's leaving
There's a reason why I stay

When your heart is connected
The writings on the wall
You're always protected
And your love will never ever stop
Carnal emotions
You place them in my hand
When your heart is connected
Love will stay the same

In this world of emotions
And the hero walks away

There's a reason why he's leaving
There's a reason why you stay

When your heart is connected
The writings on the wall
You're always protected
And your love will never ever stop
Carnal emotions
You place them in my hand
When your heart is connected
Love will stay the same

When your heart is connected
The writings on the wall
You're always protected
And your love will never ever stop
Carnal emotions
Love will stay the same
