

Stars, Death To Death

wide-eyed, grinning in the darkened room sipping cactus brandy from a china spoon coming in the morning and the afternoon forgetting

so tired waiting for the end to come fully dead already but forever young hello my dearest father it's your favorite son there're some things that i'm regretting

i am destroyer i am lover
i am destroyer i am lover
i love one thing destroy the other

a gypsy told my fortune and i told her hers i said 'you'll die up in a mountains wrapped in silver furs you'll be looking for your lover in the midnight sun and you'll perish for your lover when the frost has begun' i have a way of seeing and it's nearly gone and nobody was listening so i wrote this song and when you know the chorus you can sing along you'll destroy the things you love even though--

why love one thing destroy the other

and when i kiss i like to smother
