Stars Hide Fire, Rise And Fall

Adorned with my ancestral rights
Founded on fear, maintained by might, now Loudspeakers call out and remind
Keep posture straight keep minds in line, don't dare step out Mainstream conforming ways that my color can't seem to fit well into, I'm exsposed

This is my last dying plea to you These misconceptions keep my hands nailed to the cross Relics, pieces, the images are false My cynic explanations are breaking down your walls

Adorned in gold, maintained by might, now As I am disavowed. I've disavowed these thoughts that keep me down, don't dare stand up This is my last attempt, I lash out

This is my last challenge, I fall In my search for the truth I've found nothing but broken pieces of you...