

Steel Prophet, Spectres

Into the darkness I walk alone and cold Feeling their eyes upon me like stone
Deep in the black I'm absorbed by the night
Igniting my fear I head to the void Hearing them call, but no one's in sight
Feeling their presence, they're ready to strike Shadows are moving in shapes of the trees
Engulfed by the darkness, I feel them touching me

In your mind their is a dark side
As fantasy becomes your darkest fear Terrified you begin running through the haze of the city streets
There is no refuge for you, you are lost
The games begin as they play with your mind

Laughter they're haunting you twisted they beckon you Spectres await you wicked the wind seems to whisper
Spectres surround you

You don't realize you've stepped beyond your realm
And only time will tell if you can make it through this hell They don't know all you think your mind is not your own
From the day you were born Still this moment is torn

No end to the paranoia that you feel inside Sweat pours from your soul but there's no where you can hide

Help me god hear my cries I don't want to die
Predator upon me now as I scream out loud Descending to my grave, running wayward knave
I plead with them, spectres pull me in Deep into the black they're pulling me back Dark's the realm evil attacks

Deep in the maze my minds in a haze
I'm loosing my sense of reality
Will I escape this horrible fate whispers of death and hell that awaits
All of my dreams and life's gone forth
Was it in vein that they tell me of course Is the end of this game we pretend emotional ride that drains me inside Prayers i scream, don't change a thing
As the curtain falls on the final scene
