Stephen Covell, When You Know

Steal a glance at what we've found As loves light shines around us

Gathered here today to celebrate Our friends and family form the masses

Life makes it easy to forget What is really important

Oh, the bonds that we tie The tears that we cry And how we grow along the way

The hands we hold Clears the future to unfold For this is your special day Your special day

Plans and sweat get things done And we all know who's going to pay

Crucial decisions for the girls to make We've just learned to smile wide and say okay

All these exciting new projects Made today turn out perfect

Oh, the bonds that we tie The tears that we cry And how we grow along the way

The hands we hold Clears the future to unfold For this is your special day Your special day