

Stephen Kellogg, Scorpio

Like a hungry cat that hadn't eaten in a week or more
You attacked me and asked me if I'd ever loved before
You called me selfish man and said I ruined our relationship
But I don't understand how working hard is being selfish

Scorpio

You're the tragedy

Scorpio

You'll never sting me again

Like an angry wind, you weren't happy till we all got cold

You need the suffering, just like a soldier needs to be bold

You weren't a best friend, cause best friends don't demand things

They'll give you love, love, love, even when they don't get attention

Rip me apart, tear out my

You can say anything you want

Say I'm unkind, I don't take the time

It's always the same old bullshit

I don't need none of it

Scorpio

You are the tragedy

Scorpio

You're gonna be the death of me

Scorpio

You'll never sting me, no you'll never sting me

You can never sting me again
