

Stonewall Jackson, Man Must Hide To Cry

I walked by your house last night saw you through your window
In the arms of someone else now my heart's hurtin' so
I'll just call to send my last goodbye
I'll drop by to say goodbye but a man must hide to cry
There's no need left for hoping that our love could ever be
So why come by and let you see how much you're hurting me
I love you I'd forgive you I guess that's one reason why
I can't come by to say goodbye cause a man must hide to cry
[steel]
I'll turn the lights down low tonight cover up my window
I'll try to lock the world outside no one must ever know
Until I'm feeling better they mustn't see my tear dimmed eyes
I'll drop by to say goodbye but a man must hide to cry
Yes I'll drop by to say goodbye but a man must hide to cry