

Story Of The Year, Wake Up

We are alive for a moment one second in the great abyss of time all the bleeding and all the hate just one blink of an eye all the conflict visits dire pain on human life are we missing what it is to be alive?

one by one the pieces fall until our pride defeats us all or we learn to live without it

WAKE UP - to the sound of this time bomb
WAKE UP - to it's deafening song WAKE UP - cause you don't know what you've got until it's gone

our innocence is a virtue but our arrogance will only leave us blind, unattended without anyone to save our idle lives will we find out that everything we know exists inside of a fraction of a fraction and one by one the pieces fall again

WAKE UP - to the sound of this time bomb
WAKE UP - to it's deafening song
WAKE UP - cause you don't know what you've got
until it's gone

one by one the pieces fall
until our pride defeats us all

WAKE UP - to the sound of this time bomb
WAKE UP - to it's deafening song
WAKE UP - cause you don't know what you've got
until it's gone