

Strangelove, Sea Of Black

These days I feel I've been left high and dry
In a land where the sea don't touch the sky
Where no moon
Brings no tide
Where no sail
Can arrive
For no ship can return her into mine

I hope that where I'm going won't be long

Because my heart has sunk
Into the sea of black
Because the end has come
And now the end has sunk
Into the sea of black
So deep and slow

I will drift 'cross this sea with my wooden memory
I will drift 'cross this sea until I die

Hear no voice
See no smile
Feel no love
By my side
For no ship can return her back in time

Remember where you're going, won't be long

Because my heart has sunk
Into the sea of black
Because the end has come
And now the end has sunk
Into the sea of black I throw my stone of stone lives