

Stratovarius, Glory Of The World

The sun is setting on the pain the people freezing in the rain the Earth is rolling in her grave I beg the light up in the sky to make me whole, to tell me why I can't be bothered to be brave and I've been waiting, and hesitating, and then I see the curtain fall:

the wonder of it all

my heart was blind, but now I see
I know the power and the glory of the world
I took a breath and now I'm free I feel the glory of the world the demons sometimes find a way, there's nothing keeping them at bay but for the power of my mind the road to paradise is long and halfway there, I'm heading wrong I'm leaving all the pain behind

the wonder of it all

my heart was blind, but now I see
I know the power and the glory of the world
I took a breath and now I'm free
I feel the glory of the world