

Stray Kids, Spread My Wings

I didn't wanna seem young
So I just kept changing clothes for no reason
I wanted to be an adult
So I watched the news for no reason
My eyes went from sneakers to dress shoes
Days that used to feel long now feel so short
As soon as the bell rang for break time
I used to run to the food cart
But now, my footsteps are pitiful and trembling

When I finally get my ID card
It'll be hard to hide my joy
All the times I acted like I couldn't act like a kid
As if I'm crooked yet straight
Acting like I'm busy even though I have time
Only my arrogance grew
I'm at the cusp of twenty

I wanna live my age, naturally ey ey
Fly with my young wings, spread my wings ey ey
It was nice when I acted like an adult
But I don't wanna change, even if they say I'm immature

Even if I'm bad at it, I like the word, beginning
It's foolish but i'm still young
It's hard to become an adult now
I'm afraid that the day I become an adult will come
The day I become an adult

I used to be a regular at the stationery store
But now I'm headed towards Garosugil
Rather than stopping at turning my eyes to nice things
There's poison in my eyes now
Acting like an adult, like I'm all grown up
Like I know what everything means
But now that the time is actually near, I don't know what to do

When the new semester started and I gathered all my books
I used to think it's too heavy
And put it down in front of the classroom
Now that I'm an adult
Responsibilities are even heavier
I'm not ready, only filled with worries

I wanna live my age, naturally ey ey
Fly with my young wings, spread my wings ey ey
It was nice when I acted like an adult
But I don't wanna change, even if they say I'm immature

Even if I'm bad at it, I like the word, beginning
It's foolish but i'm still young
It's hard to become an adult now
I'm afraid that the day I become an adult will come
The day I become an adult

I didn't wanna seem young
So I just kept changing clothes for no reason
I wanted to be an adult
So I watched the news for no reason
I won't do that anymore

I wanna live my age, naturally ey ey
Fly with my young wings, spread my wings ey ey
It was nice when I acted like an adult

But I don't wanna change, even if they say I'm immature

Even if I'm bad at it, I like the word, beginning
It's foolish but i'm still young
It's hard to become an adult now
I'm afraid that the day I become an adult will come
The day I become an adult