

Stretch Arm Strong, Landslide

all these years and no conclusion a bitter end to each passing day so alone now, so angry, so much confusion you lose again, things always stay the same and so you feel you're falling down life's ropes are cut, lying all around a landslide of nameless faces these lost souls,

they come from a million places
no sense of home, feels like you don't belong a landslide, we missed what you had to offer how could you fight this endless battle? the killers, they're armed to the teeth and i know you're scared of this lonely struggle no acceptance, fulfillment's out of reach

and so you feel you're falling down
life's ropes are cut, lying all around left with no help to push on through more and more of the pressure was killing you

a landslide of nameless faces
these lost souls,
they come from a million places
no sense of home, feels like you don't belong
a landslide, we missed what you had to offer

quietly dying desperately crying silently trying we never knew you

a landslide of nameless faces
these lost souls,
they come from a million places
no sense of home, feels like you don't belong
a landslide, we missed what you had to offer