

Strife, Forgotten One

Broken dreams broken home nowhere to go
Shattered life left without a reason why
Void inside no one there to hear your cries
Alone and cold no one there for you to hold... for you to hold
Forgotten one the time has come
To take control join with those forgotten too
In this place a sense of worth is finally gained
Take my hand together we'll forget the past
Take the stand together we can change our lives... change our lives
Forgotten one the time has come
You... me... us
The time has come to take control