

Student Rick, South Of Blackford

The light has burned out
no shadows on the wall
empty picture frames
are all that remain

a child has lost his home and all that hes known where am I to go
now Im on my own

this is my life
its been torn apart
now Im on my own
show me your way
Ill find you in the dark Im on my way back home

torn in between
my life and a dream
no way my way your way today
and I cant go on
to be where you are
no way my way your way today
this is my life

my life and a dream
and I cant go on
to be where you are
this is my

torn in between
no way my way your way today
no way my way your way today
no way my way your way today

empty picture frames
are all that remain
