

Subhumans, Minority

Don't ask the people what the people think
They've got no opinions but they still think we stink
The great British public, the great majority
The safe foundation of our society

But we're the minority and we're OK
We're the minority won't go away
We're the minority and we're OK
We're the minority got something to say

Yeah, we're the minority, the ones with the brains
Putting the country on a nervous strain
They can't stand the truth - the truth never lies
The great British public got bricks in their eyes.
