Sufjan Stevens, The Henney Buggy Band

Oh life, with your shoulders in the mirror

From the park when Dakota ran and brought you there

In the car when your mother lost her temper

The catalog and the catastrophic smile

Let the bugles play the sermon on the raid

I kissed you on the face

I kissed you on the playground

Oh Father John, you cannot tell me

Whats right and wrong

You cannot tell me

I jump before I get around you

Oh Father John

Pick it up with the band on the Ronald Reagan Tollway

(Dont give up, let's go forget about yourself)

Illinois in it ran from the Ronald Reagan Tollway

Forget about yourself and all your plans

Oh life, with your colorful surprises

Eleanor, how you put one on disguises

Oh Father John, you cannot tell me

Whats right and wrong

You cannot tell me

In the mortal life

Far in the morning light

Were back from Bloomington

We let the runners win

Far in the morning light

We let the movies play

A weekend from the holiday

Pick it up with the band

On the Ronald Reagan toll way

(Dont break down, lets go: forget about yourself)

Illinois in it ran from the Ronald Reagan toll way

(If Im wrong makes nothing right about yourself)

Snowmobile on the field where the gunners throw their weight around

Forget about yourself and all your plans
