

Sugarcult, Lost In You

six days went by trying to forget her face it was you and i
we were too young for these games and all the pictures that i kept and all the things i should have said
it was you and i
but mostly me

lost in you
and i can't find myself again
lost in you
and i can't find myself again

six weeks went by still pretending that i'm fine
it was you and i
holding back what's on our minds
and all the things i should have said
and all the letters left unsent
it was you and i
but mostly me

lost in you
and i can't find myself again
lost in you
and i can't find myself again

six months went by i almost forgot your face
'till they played that song tonight the one we used to hate

lost in you
and i can't find myself again
lost in you
and i can't find myself again

lost in you
and i can't find myself again
lost in you
and i can't find myself again