

Sugarplum Fairy, Morning Miss Lisa

When she's walking down, the street
I feel insecure, so weak
But I know for sure that I will never be alone anymore
When I see her face, her face
It fills me with grace, her face
And the world I know will never ever be the same anymore
But she lives in a shadowland
So want you please take my hand
And I will never dance with no other baby
No other baby no other
And I will never dance with no other baby
No other baby no other
And I will never dance
And her silhouette, saw it
I'll never forget, know it
It tears my eyes a picture of a paradise
But she is in a shadowland
So want you please hold my hand
And I will never dance with no baby
No other baby no other
And I will never dance with no other baby
No other baby no other
And I will never dance
And the clouds are chained to the sky
As your eyes are chained to my eyes
And I will never dance with no other baby
No other baby no other
And I will never dance with no other baby
No other baby no other
And I will never dance
(I will never ever ask you to feel the same way that I do)
