

Suicidal Romance, White Snow

Your soul is pure as white snow
And you are so alone
You wish to see if You still care
About the life that you don't bear

Burning pain in Your heart
And raining tears from Your eyes
You wonder why Your love has gone
And why tonight You're so alone

White snow is falling down to the ground
And our souls are pure as this snow
When snow begins to melt
Our hearts are melting too and
Wounds begin to bleed

Razorblade is in Your hand
And candles light is not so warm
You wish to run away from here
Away from life You don't deserve

Burning pain in Your heart
And raining tears from Your eyes
You wonder why Your love has gone
And why tonight You're so alone

Cold it's so cold and
Your life is fading away
No more tears they have become
A part of ice