

Sundown, Don't Like To Live Today

pale as ice - lost again and no one sees me coming now it's time to lose that grin and start anew when i've been hiding you were always there to find me but this time - won't you let me be and then death comes crawling and you can't hear me breathe it's alright now honey right from the start the chains of love tore us apart oh my my - oh hey hey well I don't like to live today left me behind in such a sorry state of mind colder now - broken down there's silence all around me and that's all I wish there would ever be now the end is coming and you left me dry and lonely and i'm freezing - out here on my own