

Sunshine Blind, Crescent And The Star (Remix)

The crescent and the star...

The insulation
The isolation
Love passing right on by

The crescent and the star...

Were you too tired to crawl out of clothes
Spent another night on someone else's floor
What are you following if every night's the same?
There are lights out on the highway calling out your name

The crescent and the star...

Already forgotten the names of last night's roads
And you can't find another on your specific coast
Why are you wagering if every night's the same?
There are lights out on the ocean calling out your name

The crescent and the star...

Driven half the night and driven twice as far
Your only compass the crescent and the star

The insulation
The isolation
Love passing right on by

Forgetting...
Ignoring what took too much of your time
The crescent and the star...
The midnight sky clock tells you time is fading fast
You watch the sky and slowly turns her back

The crescent and the star...

The crescent and the star
The crescent and the star
The crescent and the star
The crescent and the star

Driven half the night and driven twice as far
Your only compass here, the crescent and the star
