

Sunshine Blind, Emotional Sky

I've traveled so far
It seems I've traveled through time
Searching for the garden
That our parents left behind

So I am just a sinner
In cheap disguise
And you are only
An emotional sky

Incoming darkness, invading night
Holds all my dreams from the light
Falling rain, I ask wash me clean
But the rainclouds can only weep

The things I thought you'd give me
Would have burned like coals within me
But now I realize that the sun afar
Is only but a dying star

So I am just a sinner
In cheap disguise
And you are only
An emotional sky

And you are only
An emotional sky

And you are only
An emotional sky