

Super Deluxe, I Can See

it doesn't matter what i say you keep on smiling as i turn and walk away and even though your head's unclear it's funny how my phrases always disappear she sells the sunlight
she sells the sun
all the tears that i sent to you i don't know the reasons why you hide it seems to me that you are never satisfied

and even though your head's unclear you find it funny that my phrases disappear
she sells the sunlight
she sells the sun
all the tears that i sent to you

i can see her coming down

it doesn't matter what i say you keep on smiling as i turn the other way coming around she's filled with fear not sure just where she went or how she got back here
she sells the sun
she sells the sun
all the tears that i sent to you

i can see her coming spinning round without a sound
i can see her coming down
i can see her coming down